Test 5

Read the paragraph given and complete the table below with the information. The first one is done for you

India's varied climate zones support about 65,000 animal species, including elephants, pythons, river dolphins, and rhinos, and 12,000 types of flowering plants. It is the only country in the world with both lions and tigers. It's also a bird watcher's paradise.

On the coast of the Bay of Bengal is the Sundarbans, the world's largest mangrove forest. Here, tigers swim in the same rivers as dolphins, sea turtles, sharks, and saltwater crocodiles. This unique landscape is constantly under threat as sea levels rise and humans hunt illegally and clear trees for firewood.

The Himalaya Mountains provide a home for some of India's rarest animals and plants. The most elusive animal is the snow leopard. Bears and black buck live lower down, and in the northeast, the tiger and one-horned rhinoceros can be found.

Test 13

Read the poem and answer the questions given below.

The Magic Birds

There was dew over the grass
And cobwebs were shining pearl like drops.
Spiders were waiting for their meals,
But no one came into their houses.
Then came flying some humming birds,
Sucking nectar hanging on trees.
Their fluttering wings with magic feathers were rattling quickly and fast.
Shining birds with glittering beaks
drank nectar from the smiling flowers.
None of the spiders
could catch the birds
as they were flying very fast.
The fastest birds and the smallest birds challenged the spiders and their traps.

Test 15

Read the following text and answer the questions given below.

CEYLON TEA

Ceylon tea is famous the world over. It is the most important of our cash crops, the other two being rubber and coconut. Tea cultivation was started by Europeans towards the latter part of the nineteenth century when the coffee plantations were ruined by the coffee pests. Ever since these planters changed over to tea, it has grown in importance. Today it is our greatest industry and makes up sixty percent of our exports, bringing to the country, in 1953, an income of Rs. 825, 090, 178. A dangerous pest appeared on a number of tea estates in 1946 and caused great anxiety among the planters, but they were able to bring it under control.

Most of our tea is grown at a height of over two thousand feet and the best Ceylon tea comes from the slopes of our central hills round about Nuwara Eliya, where the cold nights and the strong winds make for the slow growth of the tea bush and the excellent flavour of the leaf. Tea is also cultivated in the low country, but such tea has not the same flavour as high grown tea. A cup of tea with good flavour is a delightful drink, but in most of our homes we have not this pleasure for many reasons, and this is indeed a pity.

Have you ever been to an Up-country tea estate? If not, you should visit one, and learn something of the industry that brings the greatest income to your country. In long, unending rows, spaced at regular intervals, you will see the tea bushes like a huge army of fat green dwarfs. They are kept at a convenient height of about three feet by regular pruning which also enables tender shoots to appear. Every morning at six o'clock labourers attend the muster and go out in the cold mist to pluck tea leaves. They pluck only two tender leaves and a bud from each shoot and put them into large baskets which they carry slung behind their backs

(1) Say whether the following statements are True or False. Put a (✓) in the relevant column.

	True	False
(1). Tea cultivation was started by Portuguese.
(2). In most of our houses, we don't get good flavoured tea.
(3). Tree bushes are pruned regularly.
(4). Labourers pluck only two buds and a tender leaf from each shoot.
