Test 15

Read the following text and answer the questions given below.

The hidden gift

In a quiet village, surrounded by green hills, lived the Brown family. They had a small, cozy cottage with a red roof and a garden full of colourful flowers. Mr. Brown was a carpenter, while Mrs. Brown baked the best pies in the village. They had two children, Lily and Tom, who loved playing by the river behind their home. Every morning, birds sang by the window, and the smell of fresh bread filled the house. Although the cottage was old, it was full of warmth and laughter. The family didn't have much, but they were happy. They spent evenings playing games, telling stories, and watching the stars. On a rainy afternoon, while cleaning the attic, Lily found an old wooden box. It was dusty and locked.

Hurriedly, she ran to show it to her parents. Mr. Brown carefully opened it using his tools. Inside, they found faded letters, a photo of a man in a soldier's uniform, and a small golden key. The letters told the story of a soldier who had once lived in the same cottage during the war. He had hidden a treasure under the floor, hoping to return one day. With excitement, the family searched under the wooden boards in the living room. After some effort, they found a small metal chest.

When they opened it, they expected gold or jewels. Instead, they found hundreds of hand-carved wooden toys—trains, animals, dolls, and puzzles. Each piece was beautifully made. At once, the Browns were puzzled. But then, they understood that the soldier had been a toymaker, and this was his life's work. Touched by the story, they didn't keep the toys for themselves. Instead, they opened a tiny toy museum in their cottage.

Children from nearby villages came to visit it. Some even brought their grandparents who remembered the soldier's name. The cottage, once just a home, became a place of magic, history, and smiles. And the real treasure wasn't gold—it was the joy of sharing a forgotten story and bringing happiness to others.

- (1) Say whether the following statements are True or False. Put a tick (✓) in the relevant column.
